TROOPS QUELL SMALL REVOLT IN CHIHUAHUA

Several Killed When Chihuahua
Garrison Mutinies.

GOMEZ ADMITS BEING IN PLOT

Mexican Situation Grows More Complicated With Each Passing Hour. Governor Colquitt of Texas Tells President Taft He Will Stand For No More Shooting Across Border. May Send Entire State Militia to Juarez if Fighting Is Resumed.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 3.—The Mexican situation has been considerably complicated by new complications which have bobbed up in several localities. Former Maderistas soldiers have reappeared at Chihuahua and attempted to liberate the prisoners in the state prison. Emilio Vasquez Gomez practically admitted his identity as the man behind the trouble in Juarez and Chihuahua by declaring that he would accept the provisional presidency of Mexico if it is tendered him, and Governor Colquitt of Texas modified the diplomatic waters and in no way aided the situation here by publishing a message to President Taft, declaring that he would take "drastic action" to protect El Paso if the national government does not do so.

The "drastic action" of the governor as mean but one thing, his words declare, and that is the mobilization of Texas militia, and the presence of Juarez in case of further fighting on the border in which the lives of El Pasoans are endangered. Orozco Quells Disturbance.

The Juarez situation, when duplicated in Chihuahua, was more serious than the Juarez mutiny of Wednesday night. The majority, or at least half the Maderistas soldiers remained loyal in Chihuahua, and when the discontented element, many of them former soldiers, attempted to capture the prison and release several of their leaders lately imprisoned for opposing Madero, they were met by the rifle fire of the loyal men commanded by Pascual Orozco.

Several were killed on both sides, including Captains Silvio Orozco and Jose Gutierrez. The mutineers were repulsed after a fight in the streets of the city that lasted throughout the morning, but they did not disband. They are encamped near the city and they threaten to tamper with the water supply. Their numbers are being rapidly augmented. Another band of discontented men, many of them former soldiers of Madero, have appeared west of Chihuahua along the line of the Mexican Northwestern railroad, where much of the first fighting occurred during the Madero revolution. They have interfered with railroad operations.

Taft Acts Promptly. Austin, Tex., Feb. 3.—In answer to the appeal of Governor Colquitt of Texas that in advance of possible future hostilities at Juarez steps be taken to insure protection to residents of El Paso, President Taft has directed Governor Colquitt that the necessary instructions have been given.

American Kidnaped. Cuernavaca, Mexico, Feb. 3.—C. P. Johnson, American manager of the Cuernavaca Mining company, near Balancing, has been carried away by rebels, who said they intended to shoot him.

Woman Burned to Death. Cory, Pa., Feb. 3.—Mrs. E. Cranford was burned to death at Girard, Pa. She was nursing Mrs. Abbey when an explosion, due to a leaky rubber pipe, took place. Both women were enveloped in flames. Mrs. Cranford died and her patient can not be saved.

For Uniform Workday. Washington, Feb. 3.—A resolution proposing an amendment to the congressional law regulating the hours of labor generally throughout the United States, has been introduced in the House by Representative McCall of Massachusetts.

HEROISM DISPLAYED BY CREW

Rescue Passengers From Sinking Ship Before Revenue Cutter Reaches Scene of Disaster Off the Virginia Coast In Response to Weak Wireless Call For Help—British Vessel Is Slowly Towed Into Port. Details of Accident Meager.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 3.—The British steamer Pomeran rammed the Hamburg-American liner Allegheny, 75 miles northeast of Cape Henry, the liner sinking in a few minutes after the collision. The Pomeran, badly crippled, was towed into port by a revenue cutter.

The Pomeran and Allegheny were in collision off the Virginia coast. Details of the collision are not obtainable, but it is reported by wireless that the passengers of the Allegheny were rescued by the crew of the Pomeran and are being brought to Norfolk.

Responded to Wireless Call. Faint calls for help were picked up by the revenue cutter Onondaga, 25 miles east southeast of Hog Island light. The Onondaga managed to make out the name Pomeran and ran to her assistance. When the cutter reached the British ship she was struggling almost helplessly. The Onondaga took the steamer in tow and is now proceeding up the coast.

Columbus Physician Offers Big Fortune for Cancer Cure.

Columbus, O., Feb. 3.—Dr. L. M. Early, one of the best-known practitioners in Columbus, is making a most determined fight against death from cancer, a Chicago radium expert being the latest recruit summoned to the city to help combat the ravages of the disease.

Enlisted in the fight besides the physicians is at least one million dollars, perhaps two million dollars, which Dr. Early received two years ago from the Eastman Kodak company when he sold rights on Artura paper to the same company. Of a scientific bent of mind, he experimented with X-rays 12 years ago and became afflicted with cancer. First two fingers were amputated, then the hand, and a week ago the left arm at the shoulder, in a vain effort to arrest the growth.

Dr. Early realized his approaching death and repeatedly has offered his fortune to anyone who can save him. The amount he realized from the Artura paper, which is a quick developer for photographic processes, is unknown, but has been said to run as high as $2,500,000.

Ohio Progressives to Decide Between LaFollette and Roosevelt.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 3.—In a statement given out here, John D. Fackler, head of the Ohio Progressive Republican league, announces that a referendum vote of the league members will be taken to determine its first and second choice for president and also its choice as the best man to unite on for the nomination. If the vote is in favor of LaFollette as the presidential choice, then it will continue to fight for LaFollette, but if the vote is in favor of Theodore Roosevelt, then Roosevelt becomes the choice of the league for the presidential nomination and the league becomes a Roosevelt rather than a LaFollette organization.

Letters to each member of the league were mailed from the Columbus headquarters today.

Mrs. McLean Dazzles Guests With Hope Diamond.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The $30,000 dinner and reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Edward McLean in the old Thomas F. Walsh home was one of the most elaborate functions Washington has seen in many seasons. The house was decorated with 4,000 lilacs brought from England at a cost of $8,000, with two stars from the Metropolitan Opera company to furnish entertainment, and with Mrs. McLean wearing for the first time the famous $250,000 Hope diamond, the guests were astonished at the lavishness. The dinner was in honor of George Babkmetieff, the Russian ambassador, and his wife, who is a sister of John R. McLean.

Lee Falls Into Line.

Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—Frederick A. Ems, member of the state board of tax commissioners, was elected chairman of the Republican state central committee by a vote that was unanimous. Retiring Chairman Lee, who issued a statement at Washington saying that President Taft could not carry Indiana, appeared before the committee and assured it that he would be found in hearty accord with national convention, no matter who is nominated.

SON RETURNS IN BAD HUMOR

Police Advance Theory That He Killed Father, Brother and Sister and Then Committed Suicide—Lawrence (Mass.) Authorities First Believed That Murder of Foreigners Was Due to Strike Troubles, but Drop Theory After Investigation.

Appleton, Wis., Feb. 3.—District Attorney Rooney has been notified of what the sheriff believes is a triple murder and suicide, which was disclosed when the bodies of four persons, all of them members of the same family, were found at the farm home of Lewis Mallahn, Binghamton, a settlement 15 miles from here.

The dead: Lewis Mallahn, 66, shot in head; William Mallahn, 21, throat cut; Dora Mallahn, 16, throat cut; John Mallahn, 8, throat cut.

William Mallahn, according to neighbors, recently had been acting strangely, and the supposition is that he murdered his relatives and then killed himself. He had been at odds with his father since last fall and had been absent from home until last Sunday. A fancied grievance over favors extended to other members of the family is thought to have inspired the deed.

Murder Baffles Authorities

Four Dead Bodies Found in House at Lawrence, Mass.

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 3.—Discovery was made that a quadruple murder had occurred in the foreign section of the city, the crime being that of either a maniac or some person wreaking a terrible vengeance for some real or fancied wrong. The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Savara, Mrs. Annie Dennis, who boarded with the couple, and an unidentified man.

The first supposition was that the crime had to do with the textile strike, and it was rumored that the four people killed were strikers who had either returned to work in the mills or had expressed an intention of so doing. The police made a personal request of the newspaper reporters not to send out any stories until a thorough investigation had been made to determine if the crime had any connection with the strike. When this had been completed it was announced that none of the four was a mill operative and that their murders had no bearing on the labor trouble here.

HUNT IN ROLE OF CUPID.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 3.—The proposed municipal dance halls will also be matrimonial bureaus if conducted on lines set forth by Mayor Hunt.

"I want the supervision so strict that any girl may feel secure in attending them," said the mayor. "The average girl has too little chance to meet available men. She should be able to pick a husband from the men she will meet at the municipal dance halls."

Lawrence Undertaker Charged With Planting Dynamite.

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 3.—The five men and two women who were arrested on Jan. 29, charged with conspiracy and with having dynamite in their possession, were set at liberty by Judge Mahoney after a lengthy hearing. Afterward John J. Breen, a local undertaker and member of the school board, was held for the grand jury on two counts of conspiracy in connection with alleged "planting" of dynamite.

MAN KILLS WIFE'S LOVER

Neighbors Phone Tip That Wife Has Visitor.

Ironton, O., Feb. 3.—In a hand-to-hand encounter which took place in the home of Robert Brown, N. & W. section employee, following Brown's unexpected return home, Charles Davis, 45, a D. T. & I. brakeman, was stabbed in the head by Brown and killed. Davis was married.

Brown, who is 44 years old and the father of one child, ran to the police station and surrendered. He is a much smaller man than the alleged despoiler of his home. Mrs. Brown was a witness to the struggle and the killing.

Brown was at work when he was notified by a telephone message that his neighbor Davis was in his home. He hastened to the house and the tragedy followed.

Davis was warned only a few days ago by the mayor to stay away from Mrs. Brown, neighbors having complained.

Hebes Hear Millionaire.

Cincinnati, Feb. 3.—The convention of the "Unskilled, Migratory and Casual Workers' association" here was marked by a speech by Joseph Fels, millionaire single tax propagandist. The delegates discussed a proposal by President James Eads How to hold the next convention somewhere in Kansas and then tramp in a body to a vacant land somewhere in the southwest and colonize it.

New York's Enthusiastic
Welcome to Cardinal Farley

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912.

THE reception accorded to Cardinal Farley on his return to New York after his elevation to membership in the sacred college at Rome was unprecedented in the history of the Roman Catholic church in America, and its only parallels in recent times were the popular outbursts of enthusiasm at the homecomings of Dewey and Roosevelt. It was estimated that nearly half a million people lined the route by which he passed from the ship to the cathedral. The religious enthusiasm of the vast crowd was evidenced by the breaking of the police lines by men and women bent upon kissing the cardinal's hand, while more than one richly dressed woman was seen kneeling in the street to receive the apostolic benediction. Fifth avenue and other streets were decorated with flags, and 40,000 electric lights blazed on St. Patrick's cathedral on the night of the cardinal's return and for nine nights thereafter. Our photograph shows the cardinal in the full costume of his rank as a prince of the church.

Lad Runs Away From Home Claims He Was Kidnaped

AUTHORITIES SEND HIM HOME

Clifford Dailey, Thirteen-year-old Lad Leaves This City Tuesday and Turns Up at Hamilton, Where Thrilling Tale is Told—Has Run Off Before.

With a thrilling tale of being captured and grossly mistreated, by a band of gypsies, Clifford Dailey, aged 13, step-son of Lewis Pickens, a broom-maker of this city, turned up at police headquarters in Hamilton, Ohio, Friday, and asked to be taken care of and returned to his home.

According to the boy's story he was kidnaped last Thursday and held by the gypsies until Thursday night, when he made his escape through the cold and snow, while the band was camping near Scipio, Butler county. The Hamilton police immediately telephoned the marshal of Scipio to arrest the gypsies, but whether they really existed is doubtful, although there is a possibility that the boy might have been detained by them while running away from home.

The police sent notice to this city and arrangements were made to have the boy sent home Saturday.

When last seen here he was assisting his step-brother, Arthur Pickens, in the broom factory back of the engine house. He was sent out to carry in coal to replenish the fire. This was Tuesday morning. He never returned, and an investigation disclosed that he had dropped the coal scuttle just outside of the building.

Later a report came from near Cooks Station that the lad in company with another boy had been seen there. This was the last heard from him until Friday. Clifford had been corrected for some offense, and had threatened to leave home. Some three years ago he left and went down to Good Hope, remaining several days, and it is believed that this time he went as far as he could and then told the gypsy story in order to get home.

Safeblower Again in Pen

Eddie Kelly, the man who cracked the Bainbridge safe a few years ago and was later captured and sentenced to the penitentiary for four years, is in the toils again.

This time Kelly, who was long believed dead, was sentenced to the penitentiary from Fulton county for assisting in a bank robbery at Matamoras, where a safe was cracked and $2700 secured by the men. He is one of the most dangerous safe robbers that ever operated in the state.

Death by Fall And Not Murder

That George Tharr, found dead along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Cedarville last fall, came to his death by a fall down stairs, is the belief of Dr. R. H. Grube, who assisted in a second post-mortem examination.

Frank and James Baker, the two colored men arrested for Tharr's murder, will probably be released from the charge upon the strength of the doctor's opinion.

Elevator Man Seriously Injured

I. N. Hickie, an employee of the Frankfort Grain Elevator, was kicked by a horse Thursday afternoon and seriously injured. He was engaged in taking in some grain when the horse kicked him in the breast.

The animal was shod with heavy corked shoes, and the corks cut deep into the flesh. The breast bone was broken and Mr. Hickie, who is about 50 years of age, is in a serious condition and will be unable to work for many weeks. Dr. B. F. Hughey, of Frankfort, is attending him.

"THE TOWN MARSHAL"

The next attraction at the Empire Opera house on Tuesday, Feb. 6, is O. E. Wee's production of "The Town Marshal," a rural comedy of much merit and power to both amuse and entertain the theatregoing public. The play is built around an idea more distinct and forceful, than on which most plays pivot. It is a play for the thoughtful. It has a peculiar power of seeming to appeal to each person who sees it, as being written directly at him or her.

"The Town Marshal" is a picturesque play, a romance with plenty of ideas, a little pathos and comedy, in fact a little of everything.

Small Park Purchased For Famous Logan Elm

From a reliable source it is claimed that the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society has acquired title to a small tract of land in Pickaway township, Pickaway county, surrounding and including the famous Logan Elm.

The grounds will be fenced, a roadway built, cement walks constructed, and the grounds beautified and cared for in a manner befitting their historic importance. The tree itself will be doctored and preserved.

There is also a plan to hold a public meeting, in the nature of a dedication, at some date during the coming summer, at this point, which it will be remembered is the site upon which Lord Dunmore read to his officers Logan's impassioned reasons for his refusal to join Cornstalk in the treaty terminating the Indian campaign of 1774. The importance of this invasion of the red man's lands lies in the fact that many historians look upon it as the real beginning of the Revolutionary war.

Mr. George F. Baries of Canal Winchester, a prominent member of the State Historical Society, will superintend the work of parking the Logan Elm site, and will also be in charge of the public meeting, to be held after the work is finished. We are glad to see that this, the most historic point in Pickaway county, is at last receiving just recognition.

Milledgeville Is After Lights

A project which has been slumbering for months has recently been resurrected and unless some unexpected hitch occurs within the next few weeks, Milledgeville will be lighted with electric lights in the early spring.

The transmission line will probably start near Parrott's Station, on the line furnishing Jeffersonville with power, and extend across country and parallel the pikes to Milledgeville. The work of securing the right-of-way has been taken up, and while no contract has been made with the Washington Gas and Electric Company of this city, the city council of Milledgeville has virtually agreed to accept the terms of the company here if right-of-way can be secured without too much cost.

A number of farmers along the proposed line expect to enjoy electric lights. Milledgeville has been lighted with gasoline lights for many years, but this system is out of date and unsatisfactory.

SERVICES AT EAST END CHAPEL.

Since November 26, 1911, regular preaching services have been held at the East End Chapel, corner of Lewis and Rawlings streets. Rev. R. C. Orndorff has been employed as pastor and preaches to fine congregation each Sunday evening at 7 p. m. The chapel has an excellent choir of both male and female voices. An effective organization, composed of men and ladies of the congregation is known as the Willing Workers, and is doing splendid work in securing finances for the church.

Two strong committees, one on finance, the other upon music have been appointed and these are doing most satisfactory work.

An interesting song service is held prior to the sermon, each Sunday evening at 6:30 p. m. The public is kindly invited to attend these meetings and strangers will be cordially welcomed.

The Sunday school was reorganized at the beginning of the year by the election of the following officers: Rev. E. T. Evans, superintendent; Milton Barnes, assistant superintendent; Roy DeWitt, secretary; Leo Cox, assistant secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Reader and Bernice Ford, pianist.

Enrollment is about 125. The average attendance about 100. There are two organized adult classes with at least two more to follow. Mrs. DeWitt's class of young girls, known as the Sunbeam band, lead the singing at Sunday school. Mr. Evans has had years of experience in Sunday school work and succeeds Dr. Persinger, who has ably conducted the school during the past year.

Hettesheimer is agent for the "Howard watch."

Oyster Supper

The Knights of Pythias lodge of Madison Mills enjoyed a pleasant evening Thursday, when an oyster supper was served, following work in the rank of Knight.

The rank was conferred by the Madison Mills team, and visitors from this city, Mt. Sterling, New Holland, Bloomingburg and Yatesville, were present. The oyster supper was served by the Knights themselves, and limburger cheese found a prominent place on the bill of fare. A short social session followed the supper. County Recorder Tolen E. Brown and Valentine Hoppes of this city were among those present.

ONE or two young men of good character, employed in Clothing or Men's Furnishings, who have some capital, will receive assistance from one of the large advertised clothing lines. Address CLOTHING, box 117, 617 Sixth Ave., New York.

Gusher Tapped At Junction City

A monster oil well is said to have been drilled in an old Overland lease at Junction City now owned by the Globe Oil and Gas Co., and J. E. Powell and others.

The well has been flowing continually since the fluid was struck and cannot be completed on account of the great rush of oil.

CATTLE FEEDERS ARE GOOD CORN GROWERS.

The first and second prizes for the largest five-acre yields of corn, awarded at the Ohio Corn Show recently held in Springfield, were won by two cattle feeders, B. F. Hawley, of Champaign county, and Dan Black, of Ross county, respectively. Mr. Hawley's yield at husking time was 590 bushels on five acres with a shrinkage loss of 11 per cent., and Mr. Black's yield was 510 bushels with a shrinkage of 20 per cent. Professor A. G. McCall, of the College of Agriculture, who had charge of the judging, points out that this is a good argument for live stock farming as a means of keeping up soil fertility.

FOWLS LIKE RIDING ON AUTOMOBILE HOOD

Rostand's Famous "Chanticleer"
Has Nothing on an Oregon
Man's Pet Rooster.

Hood River, Ore.—Rostand's famous "Chanticleer" has nothing on a young rooster, the pet of Howard Hartley, a Hood River business man, which recently learned the delights of joyriding in his master's car with a couple of young pullets.

Hartley has been accustomed to place his car in the garage about five o'clock in the evening. Several times recently he has had occasion to use it about nine o'clock. The chickens, roosting on the hood, have refused to leave their night quarters and have accompanied the car on its trips about town, clucking in satisfaction, the young pullets snuggling under the protecting wings of the rooster.

Lately, however, a great disturbance was created, when some friends of Hartley, who had stopped his car in front of the Boosters' club, tried to catch the chickens. One of the pullets flew over the building and, landing in the rear court of the Hotel Oregon, struck a Japanese cook on the head and knocked him almost senseless.

Snuffbox Recalls a Romance.

The shades of an old romance go with a snuffbox that was bought recently by Mr. S. Wyler at the time the effects of Clyde Fitch were sold. The snuffbox was found in the collection of the dramatist.

The snuffbox once belonged to the Baroness de Stael, who was born in Paris in 1766 and died in 1817. She was the daughter of Nexar, minister of finance under Louis XVI., and married Baron de Stael-Holstein, the Swedish minister to France. She was married a second time to a young officer of the Swiss Guards named Rocca, to whom she gave the snuffbox.

It is of gold, oblong, with an oval miniature in ivory of Baroness de Stael. It is studded in the four corners with diamonds.—New York Herald.

Rather Convincing Reply.

"Some years ago," said Mr. William P. Farrell of San Francisco, at the Belvedere, "I was making a pilgrimage to the land of my ancestors, and many times, even in the most out-of-the-way corners of Erin, I was given proof of the quick wit of the Celt. On one occasion a fellow, whom I had employed in a small town in Galway on some slight personal service, persisted in addressing me as 'My Lord.' I didn't like the title a little bit, and finally I called him down rather warmly.

"Don't you call me My Lord another time," I said. 'I am simply an ordinary Irishman like yourself.'

"Ah, your honor," said the rascal, with an irresistible grin, 'that can't be true—there never was an ordinary Irishman.'"

A young girl who has a great many valuable small belongings and never loses any of them, says that it is solely because of her plan of marking everything distinctly with her full name and town and country address.

For her parasols and umbrellas she has a set of small silver plates of oblong shape and with screw equipped ends, which are readily detached from a handle and put upon another one. Her golf sticks, tennis racquets, hand luggage and the valuable collars which her dogs wear are marked in the same manner and on all of her toilet articles she has plate markings which cannot be obliterated or easily wrenched off.

The first cost of these plates was not very great, although all are of solid silver, and they were accumulated so gradually that the money was not missed from her allowance.

How It Turned Out.

"I told that dub he was foolish to be courting so many girls."

"How did it turn out?"

"As you might expect. His expenses were so heavy that he got behind with his board and had to marry his landlady."

Lad Runs Away From Home Claims He Was Kidnaped

AUTHORITIES SEND HIM HOME

Clifford Dailey, Thirteen-year-old
Lad Leaves This City Tuesday
and Turns Up at Hamilton,
Where Thrilling Tale is Told.
Has Run Off Before.

With a thrilling tale of being captured and grossly mistreated by a band of gypsies, Clifford Dailey, aged 13, step-son of Lewis Pickens, a broom-maker of this city, turned up at police headquarters in Hamilton, Ohio, Friday, and asked to be taken care of and returned to his home.

According to the boy's story, he was kidnaped last Thursday night, when he made his escape through the cold and snow, while the band was camping near Scipio, Butler county. The Hamilton police immediately telephoned the marshal of Scipio to arrest the gypsies, but whether they really existed is doubtful, although there is a possibility that the boy might have been detained by them while running away from home.

The police sent notice to this city and arrangements were made to have the boy sent home Saturday.

When last seen here he was assisting his step-brother, Arthur Pickens, in the broom factory back of the engine house. He was sent out to carry in coal to replenish the fire. This was Tuesday morning. He never returned, and an investigation disclosed that he had dropped the coal scuttle just outside of the building.

Later a report came from near Cooks Station that the lad in company with another boy had been seen there. This was the last heard from him until Friday. Clifford had been corrected for some offense, and had threatened to leave home. Some three years ago he left and went down to Good Hope, remaining several days, and it is believed that this time he went as far as he could and then told the gypsy story in order to get home.

Safeblower Again in Pen

Eddie Kelly, the man who cracked the Bainbridge safe a few years ago and was later captured and sentenced to the penitentiary for four years, is in the toils again.

This time Kelly, who was long believed dead, was sentenced to the penitentiary from Fulton county for assisting in a bank robbery at Matamoras, where a safe was cracked and $2700 secured by the men. He is one of the most dangerous safe robbers that ever operated in the state.

Death by Fall And Not Murder

That George Tharr, found dead along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Cedarville last fall, came to his death by a fall down stairs, is the belief of Dr. R. H. Grube, who assisted in a second post-mortem examination.

Frank and James Baker, the two colored men arrested for Tharr's murder, will probably be released from the charge upon the strength of the doctor's opinion.

Elevator Man Seriously Injured

L. N. Hickie, an employe of the Frankfort Grain Elevator, was kicked by a horse Thursday afternoon and seriously injured. He was engaged in taking in some grain when the horse kicked him in the breast.

The animal was shod with heavy corked shoes, and the corks cut deep into the flesh. The breast bone was broken and Mr. Hickie, who is about 50 years of age, is in a serious condition and will be unable to work for many weeks. Dr. B. F. Hughey, of Frankfort, is attending him.

"THE TOWN MARSHAL"

The next attraction at the Empire Opera house on Tuesday, Feb. 6, is O. E. Wee's production of "The Town Marshal," a rural comedy of much merit and power to both amuse and entertain the theatregoing public. The play is built around an idea more distinct and forceful, than on which most plays pivot. It is a play for the thoughtful. It has a peculiar power of seeming to appeal to each person who sees it, as being written directly at him or her.

"The Town Marshal" is a picture-play, a romance with plenty of ideas, a little pathos and comedy, in fact a little of everything.

Small Park Purchased For Famous Logan Elm

From a reliable source it is claimed that the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society has acquired title to a small tract of land in Pickaway township, Pickaway county, surrounding and including the famous Logan Elm.

The grounds will be fenced, a road-way built, cement walks constructed, and the grounds beautified and cared for in a manner befitting their historic importance. The tree itself will be doctored and preserved.

There is also a plan to hold a public meeting, in the nature of a dedication, at some date during the coming summer, at this point, which it will be remembered is the site upon which Lord Dunmore read to his officers Logan's impassioned reasons for his refusal to join Cornstalk in the treaty terminating the Indian campaign of 1774. The importance of this invasion of the red man's lands lies in the fact that many historians look upon it as the real beginning of the Revolutionary war.

Mr. George F. Baries of Canal Winchester, a prominent member of the State Historical Society, will superintend the work of parking the Logan Elm site, and will also be in charge of the public meeting, to be held after the work is finished. We are glad to see that this, the most historic point in Pickaway county, is at last receiving just recognition.

Milledgeville Is After Lights

A project which has been slumbering for months has recently been resurrected and unless some unexpected hitch occurs within the next few weeks, Milledgeville will be lighted with electric lights in the early spring.

The transmission line will probably start near Parrott's Station, on the line furnishing Jeffersonville with power, and extend across country and parallel the pikes to Milledgeville. The work of securing the right-of-way has been taken up, and while no contract has been made with the Washington Gas and Electric Company of this city, the city council of Milledgeville has virtually agreed to accept the terms of the company here if right-of-way can be secured without too much cost.

A number of farmers along the proposed line expect to enjoy electric lights.

Milledgeville has been lighted with gasoline lights for many years, but this system is out of date and unsatisfactory.

SERVICES AT EAST END CHAPEL.

Since November 26, 1911, regular preaching services have been held at the East End Chapel, corner of Lewis and Rawlings streets. Rev. R. C. Orndorff has been employed as pastor and preaches to fine congregation each Sunday evening at 7 p. m. The chapel has an excellent choir of both male and female voices. An effective organization, composed of men and ladies of the congregation is known as the Willing Workers, and is doing splendid work in securing finances for the church.

Two strong committees, one on finance, the other upon music have been appointed and these are doing most satisfactory work.

An interesting song service is held prior to the sermon, each Sunday evening at 6:30 p. m. The public is kindly invited to attend these meetings and strangers will be cordially welcomed.

The Sunday school was reorganized at the beginning of the year by the election of the following officers: Rev. E. T. Evans, superintendent; Milton Barnes, assistant superintendent; Roy DeWitt, secretary; Leo Cox, assistant secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Reader and Bernice Ford, pianist.

Enrollment is about 125. The average attendance about 100. There are two organized adult classes with at least two more to follow. Mrs. De Witt's class of young girls, known as the Sunbeam band, lead the singing at Sunday school. Mr. Evans has had years of experience in Sunday school work and succeeds Dr. Persinger, who has ably conducted the school during the past year.

Hettesheimer is agent for the "Howard watch."

Oyster Supper

The Knights of Pythias lodge of Madison Mills enjoyed a pleasant evening Thursday, when an oyster supper was served, following work in the rank of Knight.

The rank was conferred by the Madison Mills team, and visitors from this city, Mt. Sterling, New Holland, Bloomingburg and Yatesville, were present. The oyster supper was served by the Knights themselves, and Limburger cheese found a prominent place on the bill of fare. A short social session followed the supper. County Recorder Tolen E. Brown and Valentine Hoppes of this city were among those present.

ONE or two young men of good character, employed in Clothing or Men's Furnishings, who have some capital, will receive assistance from one of the large advertised clothing lines. Address CLOTHING, box 117, 617 Sixth Ave., New York.

IN SOCIETY

THE TOWN MARSHAL.

Feb. 6, at The Empire.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fisher, south-west of town, was hospitably enfeited Friday, when Mr. Fisher celebrated his forty-ninth birthday with a very enjoyable three course dinner.

The guests included Mr. J. S. Fisher and family, Mr. Marvin King and family, of Greenfield, Mr. J. J. Zimmerman and family, Willard Everhart and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Elliot, Mrs. Edie Sturgeon and daughter, Miss Mary of Springfield.

A jolly high school dance came off at the Armory hall, Friday night. Forty couples of high spirited young people joined in the grand march led by Miss Prudence Culhan and Mr. Maynard Craig.

Splendid music was furnished by Walter Head of Greenfield, pianist and will Eyre, tenor drums.

Messrs. Thompson, Thornton and Collopy made up the committee in charge.

ARNOLD—ORIHOO.

A marriage license was issued in Hickaway county Friday to Jess Arnold, 27, farmer of near New Holland, and Blanche B. Orihood, 26, of New Holland.

Both are well known young people of the New Holland vicinity, and have friends in this city.

Kenneth Kyle is home from the O. W. U. for a few days' vacation.

Miss Nina Bonham has returned from a ten days' visit in Greenfield.

Miss Hazel Gifford returned Friday from a visit with friends in Circleville.

Mr. Pearl Hamilton, of Greenfield, was a guest for the high school dance Friday night.

Mrs. Caroline Hettessheimer is visiting her sister, Mrs. Louise Eberly, in Lancaster.

Mr. A. P. Lynch, of the Cherry hotel, was a business visitor in Cincinnati Saturday.

Mrs. Ray Maynard went to Greenfield Saturday morning to visit her mother, Mrs. Henry.

Mrs. George Haynes spent the past two days with her sister, Mrs. Jess Grant, in Grove City.

Mrs. Cary Davis, of Springfield, is spending the week with Mrs. Frank Mark on East Temple street.

Miss Marjorie Smith a high school student, is visiting at her home in Bloomingburg over Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Roy Brown are now domiciled in their new home, the Wilson property on Hinde street.

Mr. Abe Backenstoe and Mrs. Hugh Smith and son, Ansel Clyde, are visiting relatives in Columbus.

Miss Tillie Wilt went to Cincinnati Saturday morning to be the guest of her brother, John Crubaugh and to be present when Mrs. Crubaugh undergoes an operation for cancer, Saturday afternoon at her home.

Mrs. W. S. Moore and son, Clifford, of Bainbridge, are visiting her son, Mr. E. M. Moore and family.

Mrs. S. E. Barlow and daughter, Miss Ruth, arrived to visit Mrs. Barlow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hyer.

Mrs. Jennie Thompson, of Columbus, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Wm. S. Hutchison, northwest of town.

Miss Anna Caldwell, of Greenfield, was the guest of Miss Ruth Van Kirk to attend the high school dance Friday night.

Miss Mary Craig, who is attending the O. W. U., is spending the semester vacation with a college friend at Marion.

Mr. Wesley Rowe, U. S. revenue officer, who has been located at Savannah, Ga., is now stationed at New Orleans, La.

Miss Clara Barr was a guest at the high school dance Friday night, enroute from the O. W. U. to her home in Greenfield.

Mr. Charles Passmore arrives from New York City this evening for a short visit with his mother, Mrs. Mary Passmore, enroute to Seattle, Wash., on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reeves came down from Columbus Saturday afternoon to spend Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Gest and Mrs. Geo. F. Robinson.

Cecil Hays came down from the O. S. U., Columbus, accompanied by a school friend, Cecil Cutler, of West Virginia, to visit over Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hays.

Rev. A. W. West returned Friday evening from Wilmington, where he has just closed a two weeks' series of evangelical meetings. Much interest attended the meetings and there were a number of accessions to the church.

Misses Ethel Calvert and Dorothy Smith returned to Nashville, Tenn., Saturday morning. Miss Calvert will resume her studies at Belmont college and Miss Smith at Ward seminary. Mrs. J. Star Smith accompanied them as far as Cincinnati.

Principal D. A. Farree and wife went to Tippecanoe City Saturday morning to attend the funeral of Mr. Warren Coffman, the son of a former pastor. Mr. Coffman was in the office of Howard and Merriam, architects, in Columbus. Howard and Merriam are the architects for the new school buildings in our city.

Mrs. Byron Dawley, of Toledo, and Mrs. Carl Eutrek, of Columbus, are the guests of their sisters, Mrs. L. P. Howell, and Mrs. Rell G. Allen today and tomorrow.

Mrs. Dawley is state secretary of the Suffragette Association and has been representing the suffrage movement at the Constitutional convention in Columbus.

Miss Fanny Vilas Dahl left Saturday night for Washington, D. C., to join her sister, Miss Charlotte at Miss Everett's school "The Colonial" and accompany the pupils of the school to Florida. Miss Everett takes her girls next week to Deland, Fla., where they have their sorority house at the Stetson university, and where they will continue their studies for the next two months. The Misses Dahl also expect to make a trip to Cuba before their return to Washington.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Ireland and Miss Josephine Gossard, start Monday on an extensive western trip over the southern route. They expect to make short stays in New Orleans, La., Galveston, San Antonio and El Paso, Texas, and Tucson, Ariz., on the way to Los Angeles, Cal., where they will visit Mrs. Ireland's nephew, Dr. M. S. Creamer and wife (nee Miss Ruth Dennis) and make headquarters for travel through California. The return trip will be made via the Santa Fe, stopping at the Grand Canyon, Salt Lake City, Denver and other places of interest. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Baker accompany the Irelands as far as New Orleans on their way to California, but expect to make the trip through with fewer stops.

Mrs. Austin's Bag Buckwheat, delicious light cakes for breakfast, all grocers.

Word has been received from Mr. George Geibelhouse at Savannah, Ga., of the death of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Geibelhouse. Mr. Geibelhouse was called to Savannah on Thursday, summoned by word of an accident in which his mother had fractured her hip. She was 90 years old and could not survive the shock. The funeral is today.

Lovers of good literature will be glad to hear that the Browning club is making an effort to secure Prof. S. H. Clark, of the University of Chicago, for their closing meeting. Prof. Clark is one of the foremost literary interpreters of the day.

Young Girl Brands Father With Most Atrocious Crime

Fifteen-year-old Lena Heigle Accuses Father, David Heigle, of Incest—Heigle Arrested at Marysville, and Is on Way to This City in Custody of Chief McCoy.

Charged by his 15-year-old daughter with one of the worst crimes in the criminal catalogue, David Heigle was arrested in Marysville Friday evening and will be brought to this city Saturday evening for a preliminary hearing before Mayor Smith.

The girl, Lena Heigle, charges her father with incest, and the date of the outrage is given as May 24, 1911, at which time Heigle is alleged to have visited with his daughters and son in this city.

The affair came to the police through the Humane Society of Cincinnati, which had investigated the case to some extent, wrote a letter to Mayor Smith and sent it to him in care of the girl. Upon receipt of the letter, Mayor Smith drew up an affidavit against Heigle and this was sworn to by Heigle's daughter.

The affair was placed in the hands of Chief McCoy at 2:30 and at 3:00 he had located Heigle in Marysville and had him arrested to be held until he called for him Saturday. Heigle had been employed at the C. B. Coffman bakery in Marysville.

A certificate from Dr. S. M. Seelyers, 770 East McMillan street, Cincinnati relating to the girl's condition, was forwarded to Mayor Smith, and will be used as evidence.

Heigle is the man who shot and killed one of the Bainter brothers some 12 years ago, and at the same time shot off the arm of the other brother when a fight took place in the Heigle home in the English addition. Heigle escaped punishment because it was held that he shot in self-defense.

He has been up in mayor's court a number of times, and was one of the city's most notorious bootleggers under George Robinson's administration as mayor. He is an expert baker and has been employed in a number of cities. The children are the issue of his first marriage, his wife having died, and the children raised in the

Handsome New Gallery Opened

Mr. Herbert Campbell, well known in this community as an expert photographer for the past 18 years, has opened an attractive photographer's gallery in the Pavey building.

It is composed of a suite of two rooms, reception room and art studio, and is very cosy and inviting, with quite a metropolitan air.

The reception room has artistic mural decorations, a wainscoting of receda surmounted by wood brown, finished with effective border of scarlet poinsettias and cream ceiling. On the walls hang a number of beautiful photographs, handsomely framed, and all Mr. Campbell's own work.

The studio is a light, airy room with ground glass sky-light and everything bright and new. All the backgrounds are new and the entire effect is very pleasing.

Mr. Campbell carries an extensive equipment that is equivalent to that carried by many city galleries and beyond that of the ordinary small town gallery. Everything is new and of the latest models.

The studio camera is the very latest on the market and his circuit camera and out-door apparatus are especially valuable pieces of the equipment.

As heretofore Mr. Campbell will feature outside photography and give it the best of work, but he will also give to his studio work the greatest attention and skill and employ in his work the new ideas that are being used with such success in today's photography.

Rev. A. W. West returned Friday evening from Wilmington, where he has just closed a two weeks' series of evangelical meetings. Much interest attended the meetings and there were a number of accessions to the church.

Misses Ethel Calvert and Dorothy Smith returned to Nashville, Tenn., Saturday morning. Miss Calvert will resume her studies at Belmont college and Miss Smith at Ward seminary. Mrs. J. Star Smith accompanied them as far as Cincinnati.

Principal D. A. Farree and wife went to Tippecanoe City Saturday morning to attend the funeral of Mr. Warren Coffman, the son of a former pastor. Mr. Coffman was in the office of Howard and Merriam, architects, in Columbus. Howard and Merriam are the architects for the new school buildings in our city.

Mrs. Byron Dawley, of Toledo, and Mrs. Carl Eutekin, of Columbus, are the guests of their sisters, Mrs. L. P. Howell, and Mrs. Rell G. Allen today and tomorrow.

Mrs. Dawley is state secretary of the Suffragette Association and has been representing the suffrage movement at the Constitutional convention in Columbus.

Miss Fanny Vilas Dahl left Saturday night for Washington, D. C., to join her sister, Miss Charlotte at Miss Everett's school "The Colonial" and accompany the pupils of the school to Florida. Miss Everett takes her girls next week to Deland, Fla., where they have their sorority house at the Stetson university, and where they will continue their studies for the next two months. The Misses Dahl also expect to make a trip to Cuba before their return to Washington.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Ireland and Miss Josephine Gossard, start Monday on an extensive western trip over the southern route. They expect to make short stays in New Orleans, La., Galveston, San Antonio and El Paso, Texas, and Tucson, Ariz., on the way to Los Angeles, Cal., where they will visit Mrs. Ireland's nephew, Dr. M. S. Creamer and wife (nee Miss Ruth Dennis) and make headquarters for travel through California. The return trip will be made via the Santa Fe, stopping at the Grand Canyon, Salt Lake City, Denver and other places of interest. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Baker accompany the Irelands as far as New Orleans on their way to California, but expect to make the trip through with fewer stops.

Mrs. Austin's Bag Buckwheat, delicious light cakes for breakfast, all grocers.

Word has been received from George Gelbelhouse at Savannah, Ga., of the death of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Gelbelhouse. Mr. Gelbelhouse was called to Savannah on Thursday, summoned by word of an accident in which his mother had fractured her hip. She was 90 years old and could not survive the shock. The funeral is today.

Lovers of good literature will be glad to hear that the Browning club is making an effort to secure Prof. S. H. Clark, of the University of Chicago, for their closing meeting. Prof. Clark is one of the foremost literary interpreters of the day.

Helping With Home Lessons.

Parental interest in the educational progress of a child could not go much farther than in the case of Mr. Jones, whose method of solving mathematical problems would have been appreciated at Dotheboys Hall. The Miami News tells the tale.

This was the note which was handed to one of the grade teachers the other day:

"Dear Mum—Please excuse Johnny today. He will not be at school. He is acting as timekeeper for his father. Last night you gave him this example: if a field is 4 miles square how long will it take a man walking 3 miles an hour to walk 2½ times around it? Johnny ain't no man, so we had to send his daddy. They left early this morning, and my husband said they ought to be back late tonight, though it would be hard going. Dear Mum, please make the next problem about ladies, as my husband can't afford to lose the day's work. I don't have no time to loaf, but I can spare a day off occasionally better than my husband can. Respy yrs. Mrs. Jones."—Youth's Companion.

TWO WAYS OF MEETING AN EMERGENCY.

A short time ago it was reported that owing to the breaking of a Philadelphia water-main unfiltered river water had been distributed for a time to two wards of the city. As the result, an outbreak of typhoid fever has appeared in the section supplied with the contaminated water. In a single week ninety-nine cases of the disease are reported from the two infected wards and only forty-eight cases in the other forty-five wards of the city! One deplorable feature of the epidemic is that the polluted water seems to have been distributed without any adequate warning by the responsible authorities. Such a blunder is without excuse. The lesson that deaths will follow the drinking of polluted water ought surely to have been well learned in Philadelphia. Why should citizens be supplied without warning with water known to contain typhoid germs any more than with water known to contain arsenic or other poison? A different course was pursued in Lawrence, Kansas, early in January, when the danger of a water-shortage became imminent. Full publicity was given to the situation. The date when the river water was to be turned into the main was duly announced and citizens were warned to boil the water. In addition hypochlorite treatment was instituted in accordance with directions furnished by the state board of health. In brief, apparently no precaution was omitted either to warn or to safeguard the inhabitants of Lawrence. We think that it is high time that public officials recognize their responsibility in such matters. Too often in the past "emergency intakes" have been opened with no public warning and sewage-polluted water distributed to hundreds of unsuspecting householders. It need hardly be pointed out that times have changed, that the general public understands more clearly than formerly the reason for water-borne typhoid, and is likely to view less leniently gross dereliction of duty by those in authority. It is to be expected that the citizens of Philadelphia will attempt to fix the responsibility for the serious events of the past few weeks.

GOVERNMENT CLERKS WANT INCREASE.

The government clerk is again preparing to strike "Uncle Sam" for a raise in pay. Agitation of this character has been going on for years, but has not been any more successful than it was twenty years ago. Recently, however, the demand for a greater wage scale has become more compelling. Consequently during the adjournment of Congress all those interested in the welfare of the clerks got busy, and strung wires from Maine to California, from Michigan to Louisiana, in the hope that this session of Congress some legislation will be begun which will have as its object the raise of the pay scale of government employees.

In the clerks' fight for more pay it is interesting to note that Congress in 1852 enacted the last law increasing the compensation of government clerks and classifying them. Not since the bill then, has the government pay scale been revised or increased. An analysis of the bill which became a law in 1852 shows that the average salary of clerks before the passage of the bill was $1,173.43, and after the passage of the bill $1,290.63. Today the average salary is $1,079, nearly a hundred dollars lower than 50 years ago.

Man Living From Hand to Mouth

By FRANK CRANE

People are inclined to complain a good deal over the precariousness of life. We hate to live from hand to mouth. Yet it is precisely from this element of our earthly career that our noblest qualities come.

Endow a man so that he never has to worry about money, remove him from all temptations, insure him against ever falling ill and his soul will shrivel up like a bean.

The strong, free, sweet souls are those who every day are stepping out into the dark.

All that manly charm which plays like a halo around the soldier, the cowboy and the explorer of wilds is due to the fact that men in such enterprises are brothers and companions of alarms.

The more settled and wealthier portions of civilization are full of emall, dried up, spidery souls who have retired on a settled income. They are fatal to life of any kind and particularly to young life; hence most of the youth emigrate.

They go west. The west is greater than the east because the east is settled and the west is unsettled. In the east are old religions, old customs, old families, old laws and old institutions—all full of rats and fever. In the west is fresh air.

One reason a king cannot be a great soul is because he cannot lose his job. Another reason is that "the king can do no wrong." Take away a man's right to sin and you assassinate his moral character.

It is even better, morally, to be a gambler than to be endowed.

"It is not," says Carl Hilty, "for the needs of luxury that God is to be had, but for daily bread."

Poetry - Today

SORROW AND REASON.

The lills that grieved me yesterday
And seemed so hard to bear,
The wrongs that filled me with dismay
And plunged me in despair
Have ceased to cause me to suppose
That happiness is dead,
That Hope is in her final throes
And all is dark ahead.

The sorrows that a year ago
Put all my joys to flight,
That dimmed the sun's benignant glow
And turned the day to night,
Have ceased to cause me to complain
Or hopelessly to fear
That June may never come again
Or gladness reappear.

Tomorrow, doubtless, I shall find
My troubles of today
To have been of the little kind
That quickly float away.
Tomorrow I shall smile at what
Today is hard to bear—
And have new cause to think my lot
Unhappy and unfair.

The wise have learned that sorrows wane
As does the waning moon;
The grief that gives us present pain
Will be forgotten soon.

But, wise or not, we still, somehow,
Emit our daily wails;
The sorrows that assail us now
Show Reason where she fails.

Sues C. H. & D. For $2000 Damage

Eliys Ellison, a resident of Greene county, has filed suit in the common pleas court of that county for $2000 damages, making the C. H. & D. railroad the defendant.

She alleges that she was damaged to the above amount by falling over an obstruction in the aisle of a car upon which she was a passenger, having broken several ribs in the accident.

This involves the question of passengers' rights to a free and unobstructed aisle in a car, many railroads allowing baggage to be placed in the aisle until it is almost impassable.

Wonderful Curiosity.

On the banks of the Willamette river, a short distance above Portland, Ore., stands one of the most remarkable rocks in the world. It is known as the Balancing rock. Rising from a broad base is a small column, roughly round in shape. Just above this is a huge mass of rock, bearing a tree on the summit, the total height of rock and column being about 100 feet. Although a great deal larger and heavier than the pillar on which it stands, the big rock is very accurately balanced. For how many centuries this odd freak has stood not even the wisest scientists are able to determine, but it has evidently been there for a very long period. The entire rock is of a volcanic nature, and the most singular thing about it is the fact that the knob and pillar are entirely disjointed from one another. Wind and weather, no doubt, are slowly wearing the Balancing rock away, but the process is so imperceptible that, failing some unforeseen catastrophe, the monument will probably endure for many centuries.

Vanderbilt Gets a Tip.

There are a lot of stories told of that famous amateur whip, Alfred Vanderbilt, who has once again taken to himself a wife. On one occasion he had an amusing experience while driving his coach between London and Brighton. At one stopping place an American approached him and handed him a substantial "tip." "I touched my hat in customary style," said Mr. Vanderbilt afterwards, "took the money and put it in my pocket, and I think I had the better of him. I don't know whether this particular American intended it as a snub because I was a coachman or because he didn't know me; let us give him the benefit of the doubt—either way it's good enough." Mr. Vanderbilt, by the way, inherited £20,000,000 from his father, the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. He owns over 100 prize horses and considers coaching "the finest sport in the world."—London Tatler.

Mighty River Amazon.

It has been stated in official consular reports that the aggregate navigable waters of the Amazon and tributaries for all sort of craft are estimated to exceed 45,000 miles. The average depth is from 40 to 150 feet and the average width from 6 to 40 miles.

At the mouth near Para the river is 138 miles wide, including the Island of Marajo and the northern and southern outlets. The immense volume of water discharged marks a path of yellow water in the blue of the Atlantic easily distinguishable for 150 miles at sea, creating a fresh water sea while out of sight of land. This yellow or old gold colored water uniting with the equatorial current trends to the north at the rate of six miles an hour, and entering the Caribbean sea forms what is recognized as the Gulf stream.

Vanderbilt Gets a Tip.

There are a lot of stories told of that famous amateur whip, Alfred Vanderbilt, who has once again taken to himself a wife. On one occasion he had an amusing experience while driving his coach between London and Brighton. At one stopping place an American approached him and handed him a substantial "tip." "I touched my hat in customary style," said Mr. Vanderbilt afterwards, "took the money and put it in my pocket, and I think I had the better of him. I don't know whether this particular American intended it as a snub because I was a coachman or because he didn't know me; let us give him the benefit of the doubt—either way it's good enough." Mr. Vanderbilt, by the way, inherited £20,000,000 from his father, the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. He owns over 100 prize horses and considers coaching "the finest sport in the world."—London Tatler.

Mighty River Amazon.

It has been stated in official consular reports that the aggregate navigable waters of the Amazon and tributaries for all sort of craft are estimated to exceed 45,000 miles. The average depth is from 40 to 150 feet and the average width from 6 to 40 miles.

At the mouth near Para the river is 138 miles wide, including the Island of Marajo and the northern and southern outlets. The immense volume of water discharged marks a path of yellow water in the blue of the Atlantic easily distinguishable for 150 miles at sea, creating a fresh water sea while out of sight of land. This yellow or old gold colored water uniting with the equatorial current trends to the north at the rate of six miles an hour, and entering the Caribbean sea forms what is recognized as the Gulf stream.

TWO WAYS OF MEETING AN EMERGENCY.

A short time ago it was reported that owing to the breaking of a Philadelphia water-main unfiltered river water had been distributed for a time to two wards of the city. As the result, an outbreak of typhoid fever has appeared in the section supplied with the contaminated water. In a single week ninety-nine cases of the disease are reported from the two infected wards and only forty-eight cases in the other forty-five wards of the city! One deplorable feature of the epidemic is that the polluted water seems to have been distributed without any adequate warning by the responsible authorities. Such a blunder is without excuse. The lesson that deaths will follow the drinking of polluted water ought surely to have been well learned in Philadelphia. Why should citizens be supplied without warning with water known to contain typhoid germs any more than with water known to contain arsenic or other poison? A different course was pursued in Lawrence, Kansas, early in January, when the danger of a water-shortage became imminent. Full publicity was given to the situation. The date when the river water was to be turned into the main was duly announced and citizens were warned to boil the water. In addition hypochlorite treatment was instituted in accordance with directions furnished by the state board of health. In brief, apparently no precaution was omitted either to warn or to safeguard the inhabitants of Lawrence. We think that it is high time that public officials recognize their responsibility in such matters. Too often in the past "emergency intakes" have been opened with no public warning and sewage-polluted water distributed to hundreds of unsuspecting householders. It need hardly be pointed out that times have changed, that the general public understands more clearly than formerly the reason for water-borne typhoid, and is likely to view less leniently gross dereliction of duty by those in authority. It is to be expected that the citizens of Philadelphia will attempt to fix the responsibility for the serious events of the past few weeks.

GOVERNMENT CLERKS WANT INCREASE.

The government clerk is again preparing to strike "Uncle Sam" for a raise in pay. Agitation of this character has been going on for years, but has not been any more successful than it was twenty years ago. Recently, however, the demand for a greater wage scale has become more compelling. Consequently during the adjournment of Congress all those interested in the welfare of the clerks got busy, and strung wires from Maine to California, from Michigan to Louisiana, in the hope that this session of Congress some legislation will be begun which will have as its object the raise of the pay scale of government employees.

In the clerks' fight for more pay it is interesting to note that Congress in 1852 enacted the last law increasing the compensation of government clerks and classifying them. Not since the bill then, has the government pay scale been revised or increased. An analysis of the bill which became a law in 1852 shows that the average salary of clerks before the passage of the bill was $1,173.43, and after the passage of the bill $1,290.63. Today the average salary is $1,079, nearly a hundred dollars lower than 50 years ago.

People are inclined to complain a good deal over the precariousness of life. We hate to live from hand to mouth. Yet it is precisely from this element of our earthly career that our noblest qualities come.

Endow a man so that he never has to worry about money, remove him from all temptations, insure him against ever falling ill and his soul will shrivel up like a bean. The strong, free, sweet souls are those who every day are stepping out into the dark.

All that manly charm which plays like a halo around the soldier, the cowboy and the explorer of wilds is due to the fact that men in such enterprises are brothers and companions of alarms.

The more settled and wealthier portions of civilization are full of emall, dried up, spidery souls who have retired on a settled income. They are fatal to life of any kind and particularly to young life; hence most of the youth emigrate.

They go west. The west is greater than the east because the east is settled and the west is unsettled. In the east are old religions, old customs, old families, old laws and old institutions—all full of rats and fever. In the west is fresh air.

One reason a king cannot be a great soul is because he cannot lose his job. Another reason is that "the king can do no wrong." Take away a man's right to sin and you assassinate his moral character.

It is even better, morally, to be a gambler than to be endowed.

"It is not," says Carl Hilty, "for the needs of luxury that God is to be had, but for daily bread."

Poetry—Today

SORROW AND REASON.

The ills that grieved me yesterday
And seemed so hard to bear,
The wrongs that filled me with dismay
And plunged me in despair,
Have ceased to cause me to suppose
That happiness is dead,
That hope is in her final throes
And all is dark ahead.

The sorrows that a year ago
Put all my joys to flight,
That dulled the sun's benignant glow
And turned the day to night,
Have ceased to cause me to complain
Or hopelessly to fear
That June may never come again
Or gladness reappear.

Tomorrow, doubtless, I shall find
My troubles of today
To have been of the little kind
That quickly float away;
Tomorrow I shall smile at what
Today is hard to bear—
And have new cause to think my lot
Unhappy and unfair.

The wise have learned that sorrows wane
As does the waning moon;
The grief that gives us present pain
Will be forgotten soon;
But, wise or not, we still, somehow,
Emit our daily wails;
The sorrows that assail us now
Show Reason where she fails.

ARLINGTON HOUSE BLOCK

Sues C. H. & D. For $2000 Damage

Ellis Ellison, a resident of Greene county, has filed suit in the common pleas court of that county for $2000 damages, making the C. H. & D. railroad the defendant.

She alleges that she was damaged to the above amount by falling over an obstruction in the aisle of a car upon which she was a passenger, having broken several ribs in the accident.

This involves the question of passengers' rights to a free and unobstructed aisle in a car, many railroads allowing baggage to be placed in the aisle until it is almost impassable.

Wonderful Curiosity.

On the banks of the Willamette river, a short distance above Portland, Ore., stands one of the most remarkable rocks in the world. It is known as the Balancing rock. Rising from a broad base is a small column, roughly round in shape. Just above this is a huge mass of rock, bearing a tree on the summit, the total height of rock and column being about 100 feet. Although a great deal larger and heavier than the pillar on which it stands, the big rock is very accurately balanced. For how many centuries this odd freak has stood not even the wisest scientists are able to determine, but it has evidently been there for a very long period. The entire rock is of a volcanic nature, and the most singular thing about it is the fact that the knob and pillar are entirely disjointed from one another. Wind and weather, no doubt, are slowly wearing the Balancing rock away, but the process is so imperceptible that, failing some unforeseen catastrophe, the monument will probably endure for many centuries.

First Reform Is Made

Express Companies to Get Together on Bills of Lading.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The first reform in connection with the investigation undertaken by the interstate commerce commission into the rates, rules and regulations of the express companies of the United States, was accomplished at the hearing before Commissioner Lane.

At the suggestion of the commission an agreement was reached whereby representatives of shippers, express companies and of the commission will meet together as a committee and agree upon changes in the form of bills of lading and receipts on the direct routing and boundary lines for deliveries in cities and on regulations to prevent overcharges.

Shippers attending the hearing regarded this agreement as the most important step ever taken in the direction of reforms of a far-reaching character.

At the conclusion of the hearing an adjournment was taken until Feb. 26, when the inquiry will be resumed.

Manuel Must Move

John Buttr Objects to Plotting on British Soil.

London, Feb. 3.—Deposed from his throne because he was too busy entertaining Gaby des Lys to oppose the republican movement, King Manuel of Portugal now faces exile from Great Britain. A wave of popular indignation that the exiled ruler should have taken refuge here to plot the downfall of the now recognized government of Portugal has set in and the foreign office is expected to act.

Manuel is expected to go to Paris to continue his efforts. He is now believed to be financially able to go ahead with his plans, as Prince Miguel, son of Dom Miguel, pretender to the throne, is reported to have arranged to loan the king upwards of $20,000,000 from the private fortune of his wife, formerly Miss Anita Stewart of New York.

Limit Placed On Amendments

President Bigelow Would Submit Ten to Voters of State.

Columbus, O., Feb. 3.—Another attempt to limit the constitutional convention program and put the I. and R. amendment through ahead of every other issue, is the progressive program as now outlined.

A resolution will be offered early next week limiting work to 10 amendments, separately submitted. Six of these will deal with the I. and R. good roads, liquor license, judicial reform, home rule for cities, and method of amending the constitution. Every other committee will be invited to submit one amendment, the four receiving the highest votes to go on the program.

President Bigelow said that such a program as this means adjournment by the middle of March, money thus being saved which he would devote to the publication of a pamphlet to be placed in the hands of every voter, containing the amendments and the reasons for their submission.

Insurgents Are Divided

New Iron Schedule Has Rocky Road Ahead in Senate.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The Republican insurgents in the senate are split up over the Democratic bill revising the iron and steel schedule, and there is a good prospect that the measure may never go to the president for his signature.

The placing of iron ore on the free list is the feature of the bill that has caused trouble in the insurgent ranks. Senators LaFollette of Wisconsin and Clapp of Minnesota are opposed to free iron ore, which is an important product of those states. Senator Bristow of Kansas, on the other hand, is on record in favor of free iron ore, and Senator Cummins also is said to have a decided leaning in that direction.

From present indications the differences between the insurgents on this question are going to increase, and the Democrats in the senate may find it impossible to corral the five Republican votes necessary for the passage of the bill in that body.

Submarine Goes Down

Fourteen Lives Lost in British Naval Disaster.

London, Feb. 3.—Divers who have examined the hull of the naval submarine A 3, which was rammed and sunk off Portsmouth by the British gunboat Hazard, with 14 men on board, reported that the A 3 is full of water and there is no hope whatever of any of her officers or crew being alive. The divers also confirmed a report which had been circulated when the boat went down that the men were not provided with the life helmets which are intended for use in just such accidents. The suddenness of the disaster, however, would probably have prevented the men from getting them if there had been any on board.

TURKS' QUEER DESERT ARMY

Weapons of Every Time and Age Are Found Among These Picturesque Soldiers.

In this city of canvas houses, or, rather, in these groups of canvas hamlets, are men of every race in the Levant. There is no uniformity of type even among the officers, for the Turkish Empire comprises many races, and in the same mess tent you may see a Cretan captain chatting with a lieutenant from the Bulgarian frontier, an Albanian tendering his cigarette case to a Yemen Arab. But among the rank and file of the Turkish soldiery the racial types are bewildering in their variety, says a Tripoli letter in the London Express. Servians, Syrians, Greeks, Cretans, Croats, Roumanians, Egyptians, islanders from the archipelago, Bosniaks with the faces of Kalmuck Tartars, shaggy-headed Kurds, Armenians, Persians and dwellers in Mesopotamia—there is no end to the list. It would need the pen that described the horde wherewith Cyrus invaded Greece (a very similar horde no doubt, but lacking modern weapons and khaki kit) to enumerate them all.

And even then one has spoken only of the regular Turkish soldiers. There still remain the uncounted desert men who have ranged themselves under the Crescent flag to wage war for their liberty. Daily they continue to arrive, on horse, ass, camel and afoot, from places five and ten and even twenty days' ride away. There are Arabs from Tripoli, Tunis, Fezzan, Algiers, a handful even from distant Morocco. Fuzzy-headed Soudanese, negroes, silver-gray with dust and sunshine; wiry, light-eyed Bedouin and veiled horsemen from the Libyan Sahara pour in to help the Turks and harass the Italians with nightly forays through the ruined gardens.

There are not counting the rifles and carbines captured from the Italians nor the regulation arms dealt out by the Turks, weapons of every kind and age in the camp. I have seen within a few hundred yards of one another a chassepot rifle, a double-barreled shotgun, a two-handed Crusader's sword (a magnificent piece of steel over four feet long), a slender, inlaid scimitar, a Moorish curved dagger and an automatic pistol.

There is no doubt that the desert is supplying Turkey with soldiers as efficiently as it has provided her with food for them to eat. A wonderful place the desert, able to pour forth unexpected riches.

Work Tells Nationality.

Mrs. Henry White, wife of the well-known American diplomat, who served in almost every court in Europe, is the authority for the statement that the nationality of a woman may be easily betrayed by the kind of fancy work in which she engages as she sits on hotel verandas in famous resorts of Europe. The American has her frame with gay colored silk, and stitches away on flowers, fruits or quaint figures for the decoration of her dining table, her boudoir or her own comely person. The British woman never seems happy unless she is fashioning Battenberg lace sewed on indigo blue paper, where the pattern is traced. The French woman works into fine white cambric those lovely clusters of vine and flowers in the best cotton floss, known as "French embroidery." The Italian woman delights in the fine lace that has made the nation illustrious, and many a woman bearing a title that dates back several hundred years can make lace which rivals the best which the looms of Venice can produce.

Balfour Bluffs a Constable.

As is well known, Mr. Balfour is an enthusiastic motorist, and here is the story on an incident which happened during one of his recent journeys. With him was a friend formerly in the house of commons and now recorder of a certain city. The chauffeur was signaled by a Surrey constable to stop. Mr. Balfour was his own chauffeur. The constable insisted that the speed was over the limit. Mr. Balfour was sure it was not. "Well, look at your indicator," "Er—well, I haven't an indicator," said Mr. Balfour sweetly, "but," with emphasis, "I've a recorder." As the policeman did not know what that might be and fearing to show his own ignorance if a prosecution should follow, he withdrew his hand, and Mr. Balfour and the recorder, all smiles, continued their drive. The constable heard them laugh, and scratched his head in doubt, but it was too late to do anything.—London Tatler.

Made Horseshoe for Royalty.

A popular worthy, Robert Kidd of Kirkcubbin, Meikle, Scotland, celebrated his golden wedding the other day. Mr. Kidd is a blacksmith, and at one time he was in the employment of the Dowager Duchess of Atholl. While he was working on a horseshoe one day the Duchess accompanied by her late Majesty Queen Victoria, entered the smithy and watched Mr. Kidd at his work. He completed the shoe, which to his gratification was carried away by the distinguished visitors. It was hung in the cathedral, where it remained for many years till it was taken to Perth.

Boosts Wilson Game

LaFollette Favors Governor as Democratic Candidate.

Philadelphia, Feb. 3.—"If a Democrat is to be elected president of the United States, I hope it will be Woodrow Wilson."

Robert M. LaFollette, United States senator from Wisconsin, thus began a notable speech at the annual banquet of the Periodical Publishers' association, in the ballroom of the Bellevue Stratford. Just a few minutes before, Governor Wilson had concluded his speech. In it he predicted that the tariff policy of the country must inevitably give way before the powerful forces of changing trade conditions. In it he served notice that the people are determined to come into their own and that no group of men, however entrenched in power, will be able long to stave off the inevitable.

Ulster Unionists Promise Warm Reception For Churchill.

London, Feb. 3.—The Tory Post this morning out-distances all recent prophets of trouble at Belfast on Feb. 8, when Winston Churchill, John Redmond and other prominent men will speak in favor of home rule. It asserts that from 60,000 to 80,000 Ulster Unionists will assemble. These men will be animated by intense hatred of what they regard as the treachery of Mr. Churchill and Lord Pierrie, who was lord mayor of Belfast in 1896-7, in supporting the home rule cause. Thirty thousand of these men, the Post says, will be armed with revolvers, and the majority will also carry clubs.

The post says the government is aware of the truth of the foregoing statement and realizes that 7,000 troops will be necessary to preserve order, but none have yet been ordered to Belfast.

Her Rule With Husbands.

Miss Kate Riverton Hyles, one of the suffragist leaders of Colorado, said at a recent suffragist dinner in Cripple Creek:

"Opponents of woman's suffrage would have you believe that a vote turns a woman into a monster. Yet, when a young man, arriving at the age of twenty-one, gets the vote, does he, or does he not, become a monster?" "But to hear the anti-suffragists talk you'd think that every voting woman was like that lady, rich in her own right, to whom her husband said:

"My suspicions are at last confirmed. We part forever from this moment."

"But the guilty lady retorted haughtily: "Not at all, sir. Not at all. It's my invariable rule to require a month's notice from every husband."

Encouraging.

"Bliggins' friendship seems to flatter you." "It doesn't flatter me," said the cynical statesman, "but it encourages me. He is one of those people who never trouble themselves to be affable except to those who are regarded as liable to have some pull."

Caught With the Goods
Coal Thieves Arrested

Three men, Joseph Miller, Wm. L. Lloyd and Frank Miller, residents of the Henkle addition, faced Mayor Smith Saturday morning on a charge of stealing coal, were found guilty and given $5 and the costs, the fines being suspended upon payment of the costs.

The men arrested by D. T. & I. detective, W. H. Abbott, who has been trying to catch coal thieves in this city for some time. According to the testimony of Abbott, the men were "caught with the goods" and placed under arrest without delay.

Joseph Miller, one of the men convicted, is 62 years of age, and has been in rather destitute circumstances, according to his story.

For several months the practice of stealing coal has been in progress along the D. T. & I. near the Henkle addition, and it is estimated that a half dozen cars of the coal have mysteriously disappeared under cover of darkness.

"We are going to break up the practice," said Detective Abbott, "it has become too common a thing for the thieves to carry off ton after ton of the coal, and we intend to catch the entire gang if they do not stop immediately."

Mayor Smith, after assessing the fine, gave the men a lecture and told them that the workhouse would claim them if the offense was repeated.

Leg Amputated

Fred D. Smith, a former resident of near Jeffersonville, who has been a cripple nearly all of his life, underwent an operation in the Protestant Hospital at Columbus a few days ago, and the crippled leg was removed.

Mr. Smith is an ambitious young man and with the aid of an artificial limb expects to overcome his misfortune to a great extent.

A ROUSING SUCCESS.

The box social which you saw advertised in last week's Register, given by the Cochran Epworth league, was surely a rousing success, the musical program consisted of the New Martinsburg orchestra which played several selections, and we think the boys deserve a great deal of praise, for it has only been a few months since the boys did not know a note. A vocal solo by Miss Willett and a vocal duet by Misses Smalley and Davis, of Greenfield, accompanied by Miss Carrie Porter, required several encores, also a vocal solo by Miss Leota Oliver, accompanied by Miss Beryl Chapdu and readings by Miss Hazel Johnson and Miss Edith More were highly appreciated by all.

But one of the features of the evening was a musical contest, Miss Porter presiding at the piano played 20 popular songs, in which all took part trying to guess them, the prize was won by Miss Beryl Chapdu of New Holland, which was a late popular song and then came the selling of the boxes, and such a rush, why we could not take the money fast enough. Some even said, keep the change, that they were getting too much for their money.

The league wished to extend a vote of thanks to those that took part in the program and to all who attended and helped us in the cause of the right.

New Orange.

The Lue Gim Gong is a new orange, originated by a Chinese fruit grower of De Land, Fla. According to a writer in Country Life in America, this new variety is going to revolutionize orange growing throughout that part of the country. It is declared that the fruit has been known to hang on the tree for one, two, or even three years, and that the tree bears well even when it is still carrying the crop of the previous year. This is not true of most other varieties. It is also said that the fruit can be shipped as early as June, although it is still too acid then. It is good in July, but better in August and September.

"The fruit is full of juice," says the quitted writer, "and hangs on the trees through the rainy summer weather. It can therefore be placed on the market when oranges are scarce and the highest prices can be secured."

Putting Paper On.

"Papa," said the hopeful youth, "can you tell me what is natural philosophy?"

"Of course I can," said papa proud and relieved to find that there was at last something he could tell his offspring. "Natural philosophy is the science of cause and reason. Now, for instance, you see the steam coming out of the spout of the kettle, but you don't know why or for what reason it does so, and—"

"Oh, but I do, papa," chirped the hope of the household. "The reason the steam comes out of the kettle is so that mamma may open your letters without your knowing it."

Tried by Firing.

Lady Bountiful—That luncheon was fierce. I thought you told me you had had experience."

Health Congress Meets
First Time On U. S. Soil

Washington, D. C., February 1st.—Washington will become the Mecca for sanitarians from all parts of the world when the 15th International Congress on Hygiene and Demography meets here in September. Representatives from twenty-four foreign countries and from practically every state and territory of the United States will be present.

Among the states which have not signified their official intention of being present are New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

For the first time in its history of fifty years, the Congress will be held on American soil. Arrangements for the preliminary work have been made under the direct authorization of President Taft, who is Honorary President of the Congress, and with the active co-operation of the State Department. Huntington Wilson, First Assistant Secretary of State, is chairman of the Committee of Organization. Dr. Henry P. Walcott is President of the Congress.

In connection with the Congress, and in buildings especially erected for it in Potomac Park, the greatest exhibition on public health ever shown in America will be held. The exhibit, which will be composed of eleven groups, will seek to show what America has done in the prevention of disease and the promotion of health.

During the Congress every effort will be made by the American Committee to show the foreign delegates how the United States has made possible the construction of the Panama Canal by establishing sanitary working conditions, and to assure them that after the canal is opened there will be no danger of the spread of disease from that quarter. A plan for securing uniform and comparable international vital statistics in which the United States in greatly lacking will also be presented. A concerted movement for better public health organization will be started.

While the dates of the Congress itself are from September 23rd to 28th, the exhibition will open early in September and will continue until after the Congress.

The Turkey Trust.

Capt. Sol. Jacobs of Gloucester, who is known as the "Mackerel King," said at a recent fish dinner:

"The successful fisherman is the man who can take advantage even of adverse things—head winds, storms, blizzards, and so on.

"In a word, the successful fisherman is like the little boy who entered the poultryer's shop and said:

"Is it true that there's a turkey trust, sir?"

"Yes, my boy, I am sorry to say it is true there is a turkey trust," the poultryer replied.

"Then, sir," the little fellow went on, "ma says will you please trust her for a plump young turkey of nine or ten pounds?"—Los Angeles Times.

Easily Sued.

An undersized yokel approached a sergeant in the barrack yard of one of our military depots.

"I want to join the army, please," he said.

The sergeant looked him up and down, and replied: "You cannot join the army, my lad; you are too small."

"Too small!" said the youth. "What about that little fellow over there?"

"But he is an officer."

"Oh, is he?" exclaimed Chawlacon.

"Well, I'm not particular; I'll join officers."—London Tit Bits.

fear they couldn't keep the secret they were sent out to play. Bertha came in about five o'clock and was curious to know why the dining room door was closed. Instead of telling, Mrs. Wollendorf dressed Bertha in her best frock and gave her a doll and carriage, her birthday present.

The mother then hastened to the kitchen to watch the cake that was baking. Bertha was so excited over her gift she had to follow her mother to the kitchen, wheeling the carriage, in which was the doll. Near the range the carriage was overturned, and while stooping to right it Bertha's pretty dress caught fire.

In a second the filmy garment was ablaze. With a cry of terror the mother drew Bertha close to her in an effort to smother the flames. The woman's clothes were ignited, but despite this she bent out the fire in her child's dress before she considered herself. Bertha, shockingly burned, was taken to the hospital, where the doctors said she would likely die.

HARD ON THE HEART

GERMAN PHYSICIAN FINDS FAULT WITH OUR ELEVATORS.

Advises Walking Downstairs, but Says Use Elevator Going Up, as It Undoubtedly Helps to Save the Organs of Life.

A German physician who has been visiting this country is said to have declared that riding in our swift elevators is the cause of the increase of heart trouble in this country. He holds the involuntary catching of the breath when the elevator starts or stops as responsible.

"Far from causing injury to the heart," says the independent, "elevators have spared that important organ much unnecessary strain. There is probably nothing harder on the heart than the going up many flights of stairs. The pumping of blood through tightly contracted muscles during the process of lifting the body up to a height is one of the hardest that the heart can have."

"Men who are suffering from heart disease have been kept at work and enabled to do their work longer because of the presence of the elevator than by any advance that there is in therapeutics. While the elevator is thus so important an adjunct for the heart so far as going upstairs is concerned, it is probable that most people would be benefited by walking downstairs occasionally."

"A distinguished German authority in the treatment of obesity has recommended walking downstairs rather rapidly as probably the best possible means of taking off the surplus tissue, and particularly that which collects in the abdominal region and is hard to move by ordinary forms of exercise, such as walking and the like. The gentle jolting motion tends to lead to the reabsorption of the fatty material that is accumulated. Some American physicians have tried the suggestion on a number of patients with reported success."

Besides this there is probably no better exercise for the anklejoints than that of coming downstairs. One of the most frequent sources of complaint of extreme fatigue and of aching feelings that are often supposed to be rheumatic is the yielding of the arch of the foot with a tendency to the development of flatfootedness. This has grown very common in recent years, mainly because of the small amount of brisk exercise of the feet that men take.

We do much standing, often standing even on long rides, but little rapid walking. The consequence is that the muscles which normally hold the joints of the ankle firmly together become flabby and allow the gradual disappearance of the arch and the relaxation of the ligaments of the ankle joints. Many people wear flat foot braces for this, and in advanced cases such a crutch is probably necessary.

In most cases, and particularly at the beginning of yielding of the arch it would be much better if exercises were practiced to restore the strength and firmness and contour of the arch rather than support it by artificial means. The elevator has taken away the exercise for the feet that used to be obtained in going up and coming down the stairs. So far as it is of use in facilitating ascent in the high buildings it is an advantage. It would be probably much better, however, if it were not used so much for coming down.

Woman and Justice to Man.

In the past, because of what we commonly call chivalry, men have been at a disadvantage in many emergencies.

It sometimes happens, for example, that a man, in spite of his nobler desires, is compelled to go to law with a woman. She commits trespass or falls to pay a debt, and there is no remedy but a suit in court. How does it stand with the unhappy man who brings the action? All his fellows denounce him as a brute. The lawyers make him the butt of their antediluvian jokes and the jury give a verdict against him without leaving their seats. Will it be so now that women can vote? There will soon be female lawyers, judges and jurors. Will a woman fare quite as well with a dozen of her fair sisters to pass upon her rights and wrongs as she does now? Perhaps she will have a more difficult road to walk, but there will be compensations. Men will stand a far better chance of obtaining justice where women are concerned than they do at present. Tears and sobs are far more persuasive with a jury of males than they are likely to be with women.—Portland Oregonian.

A Misunderstanding.

A young lady who wished to purchase a bicycle entered a shop and, according to the Christian Register, began looking at the different wheels and asking questions about their price and quality.

LORD RUSSELL'S BLUNDER

Manchester Cabman Refused to Stand for the Ill Nature of the Famous Judge.

The bluntness and impetuosity of Lord Russell of Killowen often caused him to do and say things for which he was afterwards genuinely sorry, and sometimes led him to get, quite unexpectedly, a Roland for his Oliver. This happened on one occasion in Manchester. He and a junior started for an appointment one afternoon when Russell was in a very disagreeable mood. Things had not been going well during the day. The cabman was a big, powerful, athletic-looking fellow. On approaching the cab, Russell, as was his wont, closely scanned the horse and the man. "Why," said he, "a big, powerful fellow like you ought not to be driving a cab; you ought to be doing something else."

"What the deuce is it to you," said the cabman, "what I do? Get into the cab, and mind your own business."

Russell, Barry O'Brien tells us, in his "Life" of the famous judge, read little. He was too much a man of action to be a man of books, but wherever he went he always carried two books in his bag—Locke "On the Human Understanding" and the "Imitation of Christ." He liked novels of excitement: "Monte Cristo" was a special favorite. He read Gaboriau's books, dipped into Tolstoi and Tourgueneff, and once, when he was ill at Leeds, he got his chief clerk, Mr. Block, to read the "Adventures of Sherlock Holmes" to him. But Russell made a bad blunder through lack of literary knowledge. On one occasion, when he was introduced to Mr. Stanley Weyman, he wished to be civil to that distinguished author, so he said: "My young people, Mr. Weyman, speak constantly of your books, and tell me I ought to read them. I have read your 'Prisoner of Zenda' with much pleasure."

"Oh! That's the other man," said Stanley Weyman.

THE NATIONAL VACUUM CLEANER

One of the Grandest Labor Saving, House Cleaning Machines

The National Vacuum Cleaner saves health and lengthens lives by removing from the homes all the deadly dust and disease germs. With the use of brooms the dust is raised in the air, finding its way to your lungs and settling on every wall, curtain and piece of furniture. The National Vacuum Cleaner collects all this dust and keeps your home sanitary condition, making it safe for your little ones to play on the floor.

Gentlemen:—

Having used your National Vacuum Cleaner I can heartily say it gives entire satisfaction and does all you represent it to do.

Mrs. James H. Allen,
231 N. Main St., City.

The Herald Pub. Co.,
Premium Department.

Gentlemen:—

I can endorse the National Vacuum Cleaner. It is the best proposition on the market to-day in an article of that kind. It works perfectly and is a constant source of comfort for a housekeeper.

Mrs. O. D. Marchant,
West Elm St., City.

The Herald Pub. Co.,
Premium Department.

Gentlemen:—

You can state that I am entirely satisfied with the National Vacuum Cleaner and that I can recommend it to my friends.

Mrs. A. L. Walters,
217 W. Market St., City.

Some Good Points

Weight only 4½ pounds and can be operated with either right or left hand.

Has patented flexible nozzle. Held at any height it works satisfactorily.

Has a stronger suction than other Cleaners and gets not only the SURFACE dirt, but also the dirt that is IN and BENEATH the floor covering.

It takes only ONE person to handle this machine and it is easier to operate than any other Cleaner.

A child can operate it.

Think how the wear and tear of your furniture and curtains will be saved by not having dust in your carpets. Use this Cleaner and have a sanitary home.

Removes all disease germs from the carpets that are brought into the house on the shoes.

Absolute cleanliness if you use this Vacuum Cleaner.

GUARANTEE.

The manufacturers guarantee this Vacuum Cleaner to be free from mechanical defects, and will replace without charge any part proving defective in material or workmanship for a period of 1 year from date of purchase.
